Collections Built for State-of-the-Art Kitchens

Heaney

Newport Brass® has introduced three new state-of-the-art kitchen suites designed with the essential must-haves of chefs in mind. The Heaney, Zemora and Seager faucets deliver the prime necessities of design, functionality and performance, and are perfectly tailored for those who want professional quality kitchen suites within the comfort of their homes.

Zemora

The Heaney has a minimal yet multidimensional feel with squared, faceted details on both the base and at the end of its curved spout. The collection was inspired by multifaceted shapes found in modern architecture. Angular yet proportional, Heaney adds flair to any kitchen. Meanwhile, the Zemora has a solid, squared base that transforms to meet a slightly flared spout. Zemora is the perfect blend of dyadic elements, round and square complementing each other perfectly. The collection is sophisticated and elegant, while also being simple and straightforward. Finally, the more transitional Seager is all curves, displaying an understated symmetry with its rounded base and spout. Seager combines both sleek and decorative elements to create the epitome of modern design.

Seager

Each new fixture includes Newport Brass' signature magnetic docking system that secures the pull-out spray head to the spout when not in use and also features a two-function toggle control spray engine with a pivot ball fitting that enhances directional control within the sink.

Made in California by artisan craftsmen, the Heaney, Zemora and Seager collections are constructed of solid brass for long-lasting durability and performance. The collections include matching water delivery and accessory products and are offered in 27 different decorative finishes to maximize customization.
